❖ What percentage of your income today is Active Income? Perpetual Income? Leveraged Income? What percentages would you like to have tomorrow?

	Definition	% Today	% Future
Active Income	Hours Worked x Hourly Rate = Income. This income is dependent on you and the number of hours you work. Includes hourly sessions, salary, tips, any time you have to actively participate to be paid.
Perpetual Income	Income made when you do not actively participate or minimally participate. Examples are sales of a book, ebook, software, audio CD that is sold by yourself or others. Includes affiliate sales, online sales or royalties.
Leveraged Income	Income earned 1) leveraging other peoples' skills and talents (like subcontracting or hiring employees) or 2) leveraging time like running groups, teleclasses and workshops or 3) leveraging skills/experience/information like creating a membership site, coaching club or virtual university.
Other Income:	Other Income could be portfolio or investment income like real estate appreciation or income generating mutual funds. Or could be the $10,000 check you receive each month from your rich uncle who adores you.
